Chapter 1 by Eva

I was there in the sun, baking. I stood up and ran towards the waves. I closed my eyes as I stood with the water lapping at my ankles. It was so refreshing. I needed to get my whole body drenched with it, so I went in deeper. I heard a yell "Honey don't go to deep please!" My mum yelled. ugh, she's so protective! I thought. I went out just a little bit deeper and pushed my head under. I came up for a breath and saw a massive wave coming towards me. It finally struck me and I got swirled in circles it finally stopped but I didn't have the strength to come back up so I gave up and sunk down until I hit the sand.

Sam's mum ran into the water and started to cry and yell "NO,NO SAM!!!" she wept and picked sam's body up. She took him to the shore and quickly walked towards the car. She drove to the hospital and asked if there was anything they could do. They looked at the boy and took him calmly.

After an 1 hour of doing all sorts of things to try and wake Sam. Sam gasped and shivered. He coughed a little and then tried to sit up, but didn't. From this point on Sam was like a whole different boy. He could breath under water, see under water and swim amazingly he was known as "The Water Boy" like he was someone special. Also Sam was older now and he was a really good swimmer and he had learnt his lesson.

"Mum remember you said when I turned 15 you would let me go back to the beach?" I said eating my breakfast.

"Yeah but are you sure your ready I mean..."

"Mum i've been ready for nearly 3 years! Your the one who's stopping me! I've stepped up a level in my swimming lessons and I know what I'm capable of." I interrupted. I took a deep breath in "Sorry mum, I just want you to know that I am capable and I am aware of how dangerous it is."

"yes I know I just don't want to loose you, you are the only one I have in my life and I want to do everything I can to protect you." Sam's mum said with a weak smile. (Sam was an only child and his mum was single, they didn't know who was sam's father was but sam didn't care, he had the best mum in the world.) "Well I better get ready for school, bye love you." I kissed mum and walked out the door.
